itu department of architecture 2015spring | agro-RESIDENCY | architectural project 4

Defne Önen

studio will be conducted with İpek Akpınar's project group process supported by readings, seminars and short workshop(s) by visiting professionals from various disciplines.

thresholds between the natural and urban environments . sustainability . topography . social patterns . boundaries between tangible and intangible . private and public . mobility and borders . . . .

discovery of the place through experimentation and urban represantations via a short cinematographic workshop, through scenario and character development exercises.

seminars and a charette project on the relationship of landscape architecture, urban agriculture and architectural design.

inspired by plant morphologies and animal habitation structures, designing an 'eco-structure' placing itself at a threshold condition . grasping the structures in nature and permaculture via studies of man made and natural sustainable systems, and transforming into tectonics in architecture.

an 'urban agricultural residency' project in the villages of Bosphorus w/ research / education / production, and temporary habitation facilities . . . . based on the concepts of ecology, permaculture, self-sufficiency and inter-dependency.