DESIGNING A LIFE WELL LIVED

Spaces for inquiring, imagining, creating

The pace of urban life, information overload, visual and noise pollution, invasive advertising and other external factors constantly overstimulate our senses altering and distorting our perception of reality.

Nowadays it is difficult to find an evocative space for deep thought and imagination; where it is possible to concentrate, clear the mind, inquire, provoke inspiration, consciousness and/or artistic sensibilities.

The theme of this studio will be to design a space for a) inquiring minds, b) artistic concentration, c) creative works. It will include necessary means and materials for this purpose; i.e. books and other printed material, multi-media sources, selected collections, production/performance spaces, and a limited number of rooms to stay for a couple of days.

The sites selected are at the center/Istanbul, easy to access, and open to a diversity of experiences.
